

Ike Tells Of US Aid To World

In Just Over Four
Yrs. $7,700 Millions
Have Been Provided
For Free Nations

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told Congress today that in a little more than four years the United States has given $7,700,000,000 worth of guns, ammunition and other military equipment to strengthen free nations against the threats of Soviet power.

The weapons supplied, he said, included 30,792 tanks and combat vehicles, 5,340 aircraft, 601 navy vessels and 2 million small arms and machineguns.

The figures he disclosed in the report on the Mutual Security Program covered the period from the beginning of military assistance in October 1949 through last December. He said that almost 50 per cent of the total was shipped during 1953.

The report pictured many nations as regaining economic health and depending less on American assistance.

But the President asserted that as long as the harsh threat to world peace exists our country will continue to shoulder the heavy obligations of world leadership.

He said that military assistance and economic aid programs, though constantly revised "cannot be drastically cut without undoing much of the rewarding success which has been so painstakingly and laboriously achieved."

The President said that in 1949 the United States furnished about 20 per cent of its total exports of non-military goods and services by grants and loans, but in 1953 only about 15 per cent was financed by such aid.

With respect to Indochina, the President said that the rate of U. S. military shipments in 1953 was 50 per cent higher than in 1952, and he recalled that the United States had made available 385 million dollars for Indochina aid in addition to 400 million previously appropriated by Congress for the present fiscal year.

The report said that NATO's active divisions had more than tripled the 14 combat ready divisions available in January 1951—giving a present total in excess of 42 divisions. It said that plane strength of the North Atlantic allies had increased more than 2½ times over the 1½ planes of January 1951—a present total of about 4,500—and that modern jets had replaced old-type piston driven craft.

Ike Feels Tax Cutting Bill Goes Too Far

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican congressional leaders said at the White House today that President Eisenhower feels that a House bill to cut excise taxes nearly a billion dollars "goes a little too far."

House Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) talking to newsmen after the leaders' regular Monday morning conference with the President, said the administration hopes to go ahead with the proposed reduction figures pared down some when the measure reaches the Senate.

Martin added, however, that neither the administration nor GOP House leaders will make any effort to reduce the proposed cut in the House.

The speaker said the present plan is to call the bill up for debate in the House on Wednesday. The measure, in addition to cutting many excise taxes, would continue beyond April 1 the present excise or sales levies on a number of items, including liquor, tobacco, gasoline and automobiles.

On other items the existing excise rate above 10 per cent would be cut back to that level.

At his news conference last week, Eisenhower indicated he might have to accept some reduction in excises even though he has spoken out against them at this time. The President said it sometimes is necessary to swallow some castor oil along with the sugar coating.

France and Viet Nam Begin Treaty Talks

PARIS (AP)—France and Viet Nam opened talks today designed to lead a treaty of limited independence for the war ravaged Indochinese state.

Premier Joseph Laniel and Prince Buu Loc, the Vietnamese premier, occupied the honored seats at the negotiations opened this morning in the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. Later, technical experts are expected to take over most of the work of the conference, which may last as long as three weeks.

R. Anderson May Get No. 2 Defense Spot

Secretary of Navy
May Get Kyes' Key
Department Position

WASHINGTON (AP)—The name of Secretary of the Navy Robert Anderson rode high today in speculation about the administration's choice of a successor for Roger B. Kyes in the Defense Department's No. 2 job.

The White House and Pentagon announced over the weekend Kyes will leave the deputy secretaryship where he has served with Secretary of Defense Wilson since the outset of the Eisenhower administration.

Kyes, interviewed at his home near Detroit, emphasized that his resignation "has absolutely nothing to do" with the recent clash between Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens and Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Pentagon sources indicated the decision on a new deputy secretary already was made and that announcement of his identity could be expected shortly, perhaps by tomorrow.

Kyes and his former General Motors Corp. colleague, Wilson, both said the deputy secretaryship would remain for only a year. The assumption here is that Kyes will return to some official position with GM. However, he said he was not sure he would return to the automobile business.

While Anderson's name was mentioned prominently in guesses today, it actually was only one of several names of men, both in and out of government, considered possibilities.

Those who talked of Anderson, a Texas businessman and rancher, figured it this way:

Wilson reportedly wanted to turn to the service secretary in picking a man for the second most important job in the huge military establishment, rather than disturb his "team" arrangement of assistant defense secretaries.

In seniority and precedence, the Army secretary normally would rate first. But while the White House and Pentagon have backed McCarthy, they may feel they could not promote him to the deputy defense secretary post without risking repercussions.

Secretary of the Air Force Harold G. Talbot has been praised highly by Wilson for his reorganization of procurement programs and business administration—but at least one occasion a comment attributed to him produced diplomatic ripples abroad.

Talbot last Nov. 2 was quoted as saying, while on a European tour, the proposed U. S. air bases in Spain eventually would have supplies of atomic weapons if Spain agreed.

Next day he denied making the statement and Secretary of State Dulles said there were no such plans.

Anderson, on the other hand, is described as having the same management sagacity as the other two service secretaries—but has succeeded in steering clear of embarrassments like those suffered by Stevens and Talbot.

Roundup 100 In Puerto Rican Shooting Inquiry

NEW YORK (AP)—Federal authorities launched a swift roundup of nearly 100 persons of Puerto Rican extraction in New York and Chicago today as four grand juries started an inquiry into last week's fanatical shooting of five congressmen in Washington.

Subpoenas were issued here for the questioning of at least 75 persons and 20 in Chicago.

U. S. Attorney Irwin N. Cohen in Chicago said the probe was ordered by the Department of Justice.

Witnesses were taken before the grand juries as quickly as process servers located them during the day.

U. S. Marshal Thomas Lunney of New York said that the roundup began "at daybreak" as men from his staff worked in cooperation with agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Three federal juries were sitting in New York in the inquiry, the fourth in Chicago. Cohen said the inquiry will concentrate on possible violations of the law relating to "sedition; conspiracy." The act prohibits plots to overthrow the government by force or to prevent enforcement of U. S. laws.

One woman and three men membership in the Nationalist Party of Puerto Rico were captured at Washington if they were involved in the shooting. A fusillade of shots were fired last Monday from the gallery of the House of Representatives, wounding five of the congressmen.

Dulles Opens Debate

Begins Important
Communism Talks
At Inter-American
Conference, Caracas

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—John Foster Dulles opened the 10th Inter-American Conference's debate on communism today, reading out to allegedly pro-Communist Guatemala the "established facts" about the international Communist movement.

Although the U. S. secretary of state emphasized that he was not accusing "any government or any individual of being either plotters or dupes of plotters," he referred pointedly to Guatemala.

Recalling that Guatemalan Foreign Minister Guillermo Toriello asked during last week's debate "what international Communism," Dulles said:

"I thought that by now every foreign minister of the world knew what international communism is. It is disturbing if the foreign affairs of one of our American republics are conducted by one so innocent that he has to ask that question."

Toriello's violent criticism of the United States had previously brought the statement from Dulles that Guatemala's "abusive attack" would not be permitted to obscure the real issue: Communist intervention in this hemisphere.

Toriello's speech led some here to predict that Guatemala would not support any anti-Communist resolution, although the Guatemalan foreign minister denied this in a statement issued yesterday. Delegates noted that not once in his 55 minute speech did Toriello denounce communism.

U. S. officials have accused Guatemala of following the Communist line and have charged that Reds occupy many positions of power and authority in that Central American country.

Dulles opened his assault on Communism before the Political Juridical Committee, speaking on behalf of a U. S. resolution asking the American nations to unite, as if invaded by an enemy power, whenever communism gains control of any country in the Western Hemisphere.

Answering Toriello's question about the nature of international Communism, the U. S. secretary of state described it as "that far-flung clandestine political organization which is operated by the leaders of the Communist party of the Soviet Union."

Since 1939, Dulles added, this organization has "brought 15 once independent nations into a state of active servitude."

"Most of the leaders of the Soviet Communist party," Dulles continued, "appear before the eyes of the world as responsible officials of the Soviet government," but at the same time "they operate and control this world-wide clandestine political organization."

Cole Camp Dog Understands Only German, Bob Owens Brought Him Back from Europe

By Peter Potter

If you are ever a guest at the home of Mrs. Dora Owens, Cole Camp, it won't do you any good to try to make conversation with the pet Great Dane of her son, Bob, unless you speak German, because Alexander is an unusually educated dog.

Incidentally, it's quite a nerve-racking sensation to ring the Owens' doorbell and suddenly see, on the other side of the glass panel in the front door, this huge, 140-lb. creature barking at you and wagging his tail. You aren't sure which end to believe.

But he is actually a friendly animal and is eager to have his back scratched by any visitor. Not only that, but he is gentle enough to be aware of his great size, and usually backs into some corner or behind a chair to keep out of the way.

Alexander is completely devoted to his master, Bob, now a junior majoring in history at the University of Missouri. Bob returns home every weekend, and in the interim his mother has the care of Alexander. She speaks some German and has learned the commands Bob uses with the dog.

The Great Dane is now four years old. He was purchased by Bob in Berlin, Germany, when he was about as big as a full-grown fox terrier and looked much like a small greyhound. His paws were almost as large as they are now, about equal to an average-sized man's fist.

The dog's understanding of German was a matter of diplomatic necessity. Bob, now 26, was with the State Department in Berlin after having served two years in Germany with the army. German was the required language while on duty and Bob decided the dog must learn German commands.

He was thorough about training the dog and consequently Alexander is quick to obey.

Bob resigned his State Department job last June. With him at the time was another Cole Camp boy, Leonard Trautott Jr., who was also with the State Department. They had previously bought a Mercedes car and they spent the next few months touring Europe—with Alexander along for the ride. They visited Germany, Switzerland, France, Italy, Greece and Yugoslavia. They returned to the United States last fall and Bob bought Leonard's share in the Mercedes. Bob now has the car with him at the University.

THIS DANE UNDERSTANDS GERMAN—Alexander, owned by Robert Owens, Cole Camp, assumes a regal pose at a command, but the command must be in German. Owens bought the dog in Germany while Owens was with the State Department. He trained the dog, using only German commands. Consequently, Alexander can understand no English. (Staff Photo by Potter.)

Along with the car, he also brought Alexander home and Mrs. Owens admits she was dismayed to see such a large dog stroll into her living room. Since then she has come to love the dog and says the house would seem empty if he were not there.

When you see this brindle-colored Great Dane, that, standing on his hind legs, could drape his elbows comfortably on a tall man's shoulders, you can easily understand why the place might seem empty should he leave. Yet there are only three instances in which you can depend upon Alexander to throw his weight around.

The first instance, of course, is if someone were to treat Bob with anything but kindness. To put it mildly Alexander's presence brings out the best in men.

Japan And US Sign Pact

Mutual Defense
Treaty Includes
America Keeping
Up Aid to Islands

TOKYO (AP)—Japan and the United States today signed a mutual defense pact to give the Japanese both guns and grain and hasten the day when American soldiers can withdraw from the island empire.

The mutual defense assistance agreement—actually a series of agreements—will pour 100 million dollars of American aid into Japan's economy in the next three months and probably amount to much more in the long run.

U. S. Ambassador John Allison said the agreement "takes us one step nearer the time when the United States can withdraw its forces from Japan."

Japanese Foreign Minister Katsumi Okazaki signed for his government.

The agreement will boost Japan's defense force from 120,000 to 160,000 men and hold it along more military lines. The United States will supply ships and planes.

The United States also will start the movement of 500,000 tons of surplus wheat and 100,000 tons of barley to Japan. And Japan will sell the grain domestically and in turn use the money for guns and munitions.

The agreement was hammered out in eight months of negotiation which at times brought the Liberal government of Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida under intense opposition criticism. Despite Socialist opposition, the government expects ratification by April 1.

Allison emphasized that the pact does not require Japan "to send its young men abroad." He quoted Secretary of State Dulles who said recently the agreement would be "purely of a defensive nature, directed exclusively toward contributing to the defense and security of the Japanese homeland."

However, neither does the agreement specify that Japan should not send troops wherever it saw fit.

The agreement binding Japan to the Western democracies in the fight against communism provides for destroyers, tanks, jeeps, airplanes and other military needs. It also provides for a 700-man military advisory group to serve with the Japanese defense force.

Material given to the Japanese cannot be resold to other nations. The agreement is almost identical with similar mutual defense pacts the United States has signed with many nations.

Otterville School Supt. Resigns

Marion Wille's resignation as superintendent of schools at Otterville was accepted by the board of education today. Wille resigned immediately, and Miss Cary Ann Sanders, teacher of mathematics and science, was appointed acting superintendent.

Wille had tendered his resignation to be effective at the end of his contract period June 30, but by mutual consent it was agreed that it be immediately effective.

MOUNTAINS OF CLOTHES—This is a typical scene inside the Concordia factory of the Burlington Manufacturing Co., producer of matched uniforms. Here Mrs. Ralph Borgstadt tends busily to her sewing machine amid piles of uniform sections. The factory employs 80 women and seven men. The proposed expansion would permit the employment of about 25 more people.

Concordia Factory Extension Will Provide Jobs for 25

A proposed factory expansion in Concordia, if it goes through, will provide jobs for about 25 more people and insure continued production in the main factory now standing.

Lawrence Stewart, manager of the Burlington Manufacturing Co., which produces matched uniforms and has an annual payroll of about $125,000 for its 87 employees, states that this winter the lack of extra facilities to handle increased orders meant that business had to be turned away, and the business that could be handled had to be run through a crowded schedule.

The proposed expansion would be financed by a fund-raising campaign now being conducted by the Concordia Development Co., with Otto Oetting president. Estimated cost of the addition has been placed at about $27,000. The campaign began three months ago, although the plan has been taking shape for about two years, Stewart said.

The addition would be built onto the east, or back, end of the present building and would extend 15 feet to the east and 32 feet to the south. It would contain more sewing machines and also provide room for storage. Now a second building is rented for storage, and the distance and extra expense is unsatisfactory.

The Burlington Manufacturing Co., which has its main office in Kansas City, has been located in Concordia for seven years, in a building provided by the city and for which the firm pays rent. The building measures 90 by 110 feet and is almost entirely filled with rows of sewing machines and piles of uniform sections. Of the 87 employees, only seven are male.

In a single week the factory produces 300 dozen trousers, 150 dozen shirts and 100 jackets, all matching.

Party Line Tussle Seen Over Tax Cuts, Hawaiian Statehood

WASHINGTON (AP)—Party leaders tightened their lines today for Republican-Democratic tussles in Congress on two issues: taxes and statehood for Hawaii.

Senate Democrats have been summoned to their first caucus of the year tomorrow to discuss a campaign to tie an Alaska statehood amendment to the Hawaii bill which the Senate has been debating since last Thursday. The Republican leadership opposes the move.

The House on Wednesday is scheduled to take up the first big tax bill of the year, a measure to cut many excise or sales taxes, and there may be some preliminary skirmishing preparatory to a bigger battle a week later over reducing personal income taxes.

In the Senate, Democrats outnumber Republicans 48-47. In the House, there are 219 Republicans to 215 Democrats. Each branch has one independent.

In the Senate, Democratic leadership is seeking unanimous support for a proposal by Sen. Anderson (D-NM) to add Alaska to the Hawaiian statehood bill. Alaska normally votes Democratic and Hawaii Republican.

Republicans are striving to keep the bills separate, arguing that the addition of Alaska might sink the statehood ambitions of Hawaii as well as Alaska.

Republican Leader Knowland of California has promised that a separate bill for Alaska will be considered by the Senate later this year. Some Democrats objected that there is no guarantee such a bill would be considered by the House, which passed the Hawaii bill last year, or that it would be signed by President Eisenhower.

The President has asked statehood now only for Hawaii.

The House, which has acted on only a few bills of major importance since the first of the year, considers today and tomorrow bills to make new funds available for secondary roads and to authorize a $182-million-dollar, three-year program of federal aid to hospital building.

Then on Wednesday it will consider a bill to slash excise taxes by nearly a billion dollars a year, cutting down to 10 per cent all levies above that figure except those on liquor and tobacco. The bill also would cancel reductions now due to take effect April 1 on liquor, cigarettes, automobiles, gasoline and some other items.

Democrats may move to cut some of the excises still further, but in the main they are pointing toward next week's fight over a major revision of the tax laws to which they hope to attach an increase in the individual income tax exemptions. The administration opposes any increase now.

The tax revision bill, which embodies administration recommendations for reduced taxes on corporation dividends and higher rates of depreciation for tax purposes on new machinery and equipment, came in for more praise and condemnation over the weekend.

The presidents of the AFL and CIO, George Meany and Walter Reuther, urged Congress to reject the bill recommended by the Ways and Means Committee as a bounty to business. They said more tax relief should be voted to consumers.

Stoofing at the claim the depreciation allowances would give needed stimulation of business expansion, Meany said the provision "must be considered an indefensible bounty from the public treasury to business." And Reuther said in a separate statement: "It is almost painfully clear that what American business needs most now is more customers and not some new and special incentive to invest in 1954 and 1955."

On the other hand, the Council of State Chambers of Commerce said the provision would generate "a wave of orders" for new machinery and would lead to rehiring of laid-off workers, new jobs and more and better things for consumers at lower costs.

Attacking American Outposts

Raid on Indochina
Airport Believed
Just First to Spots
Where GIs Are Aiding

HAIPHONG, Indochina (AP)—French military authorities enforced a state of emergency in this vital seaport today following a Vietnamese commando raid on a nearby landing field where American air technicians service U. S.-supplied transport planes for the French war against the Communist-led rebels.

Reports circulated that the Vietnamese had declared they planned to attack every area where American personnel work. The Vietnamese radio recently accused the United States of intervening in the Indochinese war.

None of the 44 U. S. Air Force personnel stationed at the field, Catbi, three miles from Haiphong, was on the airfield when the commandos attacked before dawn yesterday.

Another 105 American technicians work at Doson airstrip, 12 miles southeast of Haiphong. The French set up prohibited zones around both fields, barring from the areas all civilians except those with special authorization.

The rest of the 252 Americans aiding the French in maintaining the planes are stationed at Tourane, on the central Indochinese coast.

The French announced the seizure of 74 men suspected of aiding the Vietnamese in the Catbi raid. The military said five of the raiders were killed, "several" taken prisoner and three high explosive charges had been seized.

Patrols at the two airfields were reinforced following the attack. Patrols at all other landing strips in north Indochina were alerted today to guard against further Vietnamese raids.

Before the arrival of the Americans, Vietnamese commandos raided the Doson field about a month ago, damaging planes and blowing up gasoline storage depots.

Last Tuesday morning rebels wrecked 12 transport planes at Gialam civil airport, five miles from Hanoi.

The attack at Catbi was made by khaki-uniformed Vietnamese troops who got on the airfield by convincing the sentinels they were Vietnamese soldiers.

Their leader was described as "speaking perfect French."

Then the rebels rushed to put bombs, timed to go off in a few minutes, in the planes lined up on the runway. As explosions and fires swept the planes, the rebels opened fire on the airport guards.

The French Union patrols reported they had no losses but said, "Several of the Vietnamese raiders were killed, wounded or captured."

The daring night raids on the strips are designed to smash as many as possible of the planes used in the vital airlifts taking troops and supplies to the big Vietnamese-encircled French outpost fortress at Dien Bien Phu, 180 miles west of Hanoi in northwest Indochina.

Baileys' Home Burns Saturday; Nothing Saved

The three room dwelling of Robert L. Bailey, 16 miles southwest of Sedalia, was destroyed by fire early Saturday morning. Bailey, employed at the National Engineering and Manufacturing Co., had completed his night shift and arrived at his home about 1:45 a. m. to find the house burning.

Flames had gained considerable headway before his arrival and it was impossible to save any of his belongings. The smoke filled rooms made it handicap for anyone to stay inside long enough to grab anything. Bailey, however, was successful in getting to a desk from which he saved an insurance policy.

Leonard Hunter, a neighbor attracted to the fire, arrived too late to be of assistance.

Mrs. Bailey and her son, Larry Eugene, since Mr. Bailey had been working on the night shift, had been staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Alderman, about a half mile south of their home.

The origin of the blaze was undetermined.

Emergency Meet Over Egyptian Chiefs' Conflict

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Leaders of Egypt's military regime met in emergency session in army headquarters today amid reports of a fresh conflict was brewing between President Maj. Gen. Mohammed Naguib and his fellow officers on the ruling revolutionary council.

At the same time, civilian cabinet ministers were reported conferring in the Parliament building. "Naguib wants too much," declared one member of the council, who declined use of his name. The council and cabinet were scheduled to hold a joint conference tonight to thrust out powers to be exercised by the council. Naguib and the 250-member constituent assembly to be elected in July.

Teamsters' Union Taken Over By Representative

JOPLIN — An international representative today took over administrative affairs of Local 823 of the Teamsters Union, named in an injunction petition filed by 19 members last Saturday.

The representative, Richard Kavenner, St. Louis, was assigned the duty pending a hearing Wednesday before Circuit Judge Walter E. Bailey on a motion to permanently enjoin the present executive officers from exercising control over the organization.

The injunction is sought by 19 members who alleged the officers had failed to permit fair election of officers, were guilty of "gross mismanagement and abuse of authority," and had employed "hooligans and strong arm boys and thugs with police records to intimidate" the plaintiffs.

Meanwhile police are still investigating unexplained explosions at the homes of two of the petitioners, H. L. Alexander and Amos Reniker. Both Alexander and Reniker blamed "union troubles." Union officials have declined to comment.

Kavenner said an "overwhelming majority" of the union membership voted their confidence in their leaders at a regular meeting Sunday. He estimated more than 400 attended the session.

President of the union local is Floyd C. Webb.

Longshoremen Continue NY Wildcat Strike

NEW YORK — Dissatisfied longshoremen continued a "wildcat" strike on the New York water front today despite a previous prediction by their union leader that the work stoppage would end.

Members of the independent International Longshoremen's Assn. gathered at several piers but refused to heed the calls of hiring agents. Immediately affected was the transatlantic liner Mauretania, arriving from Europe.

As dockhands stood idly watching, about 30 officials of the C.I.O. line helped men mooring lines as the ship eased into her North River Dock at 8 a. m.

The insurgent workers also refused to load a waiting cargo aboard the Mexican Line freighter Geizina Brovig at an East River pier.

Instead, several longshoremen distributed leaflets urging pier workers to reunite into a single union and end the current split of allegiance between the independent I.L.A. and an AFL union.

The strike, started Friday in a protest over a federal court injunction, had been expected to end today after I.L.A. President William V. Bradley said yesterday:

"I think I'll be able to get the men back to work. At any rate, I will try like hell. I am sure they will go back tomorrow."

The strike action was taken because the injunction was not directed at the rival AFL longshoremen's group.

Central Missouri Cloud Seeding Program Ends

COLUMBIA — Ray E. Wriedt announced today that efforts to promote a cloud-seeding program in an attempt to produce rain in five central Missouri counties had been abandoned because of lack of financial support.

He authorized banks holding funds in escrow to return it to subscribers.

The Boone County farmer spent five months attempting to raise $7,500 each in Boone, Cooper, Howard, Callaway and Audrain counties. He said that the Weather Corporation of America in St. Louis had to be notified by April 15 if it was to undertake the program and that he could not raise sufficient funds by that time.

Sleight-of-Hand Artist Is Dead

ST. LOUIS — Will L. Lindhorst, 64, one of the nation's top sleight-of-hand performers, died of heart disease yesterday.

Lindhorst, a student of Howard Thurston, originated the radio show, "Chandu, the Magician." He toured the Orpheum circuit in 1927 at a salary of $750 a week.

Lindhorst was a democratic state representative in Missouri from 1935-39.

Boy Says Fellow Classmates Beat Him for Teacher

HUGHES, Ark. — Fifth grader Joe Louis Hall, 10, says every boy in his class gave him 20 blows with a strap when the teacher let them punish him for skipping his homework.

School Superintendent Roy Nelson said today "It was just a case of a young first-year teacher making a mistake. As far as I'm concerned, the case is closed."

Joe, a pupil at the Mildred Jackson elementary school for Negroes here, said he was held stomach down on a bench while 19 boys took turns with the strap. He complained afterward of a pain in his side.

Two physicians who examined Joe said he wasn't hurt.

"There wasn't a mark on him," said one. "I wouldn't have known he had been whipped if his mother hadn't told me."

Nelson said the teacher, Dorothy Canada, "said she had been taught in some education course that it was a good method to let students decide how one of them should be punished."

Teachers have been instructed that no child can be punished unless the principal is present, he added.

Labor Group Defeats K. O. of Union Shop

WASHINGTON — The House Labor Committee today rejected 18-6 an effort to knock union shop provisions out of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Chairman McConnell (R-Pa.) disclosed the action taken at a closed-door meeting. He said the amendment was offered by Rep. Wm. Smith (R-Kan.).

The proposal, he said, would have had the effect of making it legal for employers to call for union shops and maintenance of membership provides generally for continued union membership.

The committee, McConnell said, postponed until later this week a vote on the language of provisions which would take from the National Labor Relations Board and give to the federal courts the job of handling unfair labor practice charges.

The Senate Labor Committee also is studying possible changes in the T-H law but today put off until Wednesday formal talks aimed at writing amendments.

Junior Colleges Show Enrollment Increase

ST. LOUIS — Two officials of the American Association of Junior Colleges, noting enrollment in the nation's junior colleges has jumped 25 per cent since 1945, foresee a steady increase in the number of students at these schools.

Frederick J. Marston, president, and Jesse Bogue, executive secretary of the association made the observations in an interview yesterday as the association prepared to open its three-day convention today.

Marston, dean of Kemper Military Academy at Booneville, Mo., and Bogue, of Washington, attributed the enrollment increase to the joint appeal of low cost plus convenient locations of public junior colleges and the specialized courses available at the schools in addition to the usual "first two years of college."

Enrollment, they said, in the current academic year was 600,000 as compared with 455,000 for the 1945-46 school year.

Representatives of 300 junior colleges are scheduled to attend the convention. Major items on the agenda will be reports of the association's five research committees on administration, curriculum, legislation, student personnel and teacher preparation.

Car Is Given Mrs. Connor For Use In Cerebral Palsy Work

The most satisfying thing a person can do is to help other people. That is why Mrs. Gregory Connor feels she is doing the most important job she ever did in her life. She is the person chosen to lead and extend a helping hand and a word of encouragement and comfort to the parents of cerebral palsied children.

Mrs. Connor is the new field representative for the West Central Cerebral Palsy Association, the second such representative in the United States. The other one, Mrs. Maurine Hert, is from Missouri, too, in the Central Missouri District.

Right now it is mostly public relations work, going into homes and talking to parents, telling them of the program and of the hope. It is wonderful, says Mrs. Connor, to see their faces light up when you tell them what is being done, the progress that is being made and the program being offered.

There are seven counties included in the West Central District: Pettis, Benton, Henry, Saline, Morgan, Johnson and Lafayette. Mrs. Connor needed a car. She had to have transportation to get around to the many places and educate the people as to what cerebral palsy really is and what is being accomplished.

One day Don King, president of the West Central Cerebral Palsy Association, was talking to a representative of the Mike O'Connor Chevrolet-Buick Co. and told him of the need for a car. He wondered if there would be a chance that Mr. O'Connor would help out. The man told him he thought so and Mr. King went to talk to Mr. O'Connor. Yes, he would let them have a car because he, too, was interested in the job they were trying to do.

And so, Mrs. Connor has a car to go to the many places over the seven counties. She has been to Warrensburg, to Marshall and other places, telling the story of cerebral palsied children and the need to help. She has been getting civic minded citizens interested and has found everywhere a friendly people who are anxious to give these youngsters a chance. One out of every 1,000 children is cerebral palsied.

It was Hurst John in Columbia, who had a cerebral palsied child, who first saw the need for a field representative. The family had taken their child to Kansas City for treatment, but when they returned home there was nothing they could do to help between the treatments and this was something that had to be continued day after day. And so Mrs. Hert was employed for that district to make contacts and to teach methods of therapy for the parents to follow.

That is what Mrs. Connor will do later. She is taking up therapy and will teach the parents so they can give their children daily training. But right now she is laying the groundwork for a wonderful program that will give the children with cerebral palsy an opportunity to live lives that will one day enable them to make their own way in the world.

Miss McBride To Quit Radio After 20 Years

NEW YORK — Mary Margaret McBride, a favorite with millions of radio listeners, will quit her daily broadcasts on May 15, after 20 years on the air.

After a three months vacation, she will return in the fall with a weekly television show.

"It seemed as if 20 years, day in and day out, was enough," she said. "And my anniversary month seemed a good time to make the break. I want to devote more time to writing my column and perhaps to some other writing. And although I love radio, I think there are things you can do with television which can't quite be done with radio. Moving into television adds another dimension to the thing I love. But it isn't a farewell to radio, just to doing a daily program."

Mary Margaret, who was born on a Missouri farm, was a reporter and feature writer on Midwestern and New York newspapers, and then a foreign correspondent and free-lance magazine writer.

She entered radio in 1934. Her program, for the second time in two years, was recently named "the outstanding daytime show on radio" by the National Assn. for Better Radio and TV.

Her daily AP newfeatures column, started last October, is carried by almost 100 newspapers from Hawaii and Alaska to New York.

Has a Sample Plan To Force Fines by Cash

ST. LOUIS — City Marshal Richard J. FitzGibbon says he will propose a simple plan to forewarn traffic violators that city court fines must be paid in cash.

FitzGibbon said yesterday he will suggest to Chief of Police Jeremiah O'Connor that each court summons be stamped or imprinted with words to that effect.

His proposal was an outgrowth of the case of Louis C. Jones, 36-year-old real estate man, who tried to pay a traffic fine with a check and spent 16 hours in a police holdover cell because of the no-check policy.

FitzGibbon said this case and others like it would not have arisen if the motorist had been advised before he came to court that he would have to pay cash if fined.

The policy was put into effect, he said, to protect deputy marshals who have to make up the loss out of their pockets if a worthless check slips by.

Women's Guild Has Churchmen As Dinner Guests

The Women's Guild of Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church met for a covered dish supper at 6:30 p. m. Thursday with the Churchmen's Brotherhood as guests.

Mrs. Richard Gray, Mrs. T. J. Flessa, Mrs. J. E. Smith, Mrs. R. Ramlow, Mrs. O. A. Wagner and Mrs. Herbert L. Smith, served 68 members and two guests.

Those sitting at the birthday table for the month of March were: Mrs. R. H. Sheffield, Mrs. Bessie Raiffen, Mrs. William Anderson, Hershel Bremer, A. P. Stanfield and Arthur Schwartz.

Preceding the meeting, a film-strip on last year's World Day of Prayer was shown.

Following the supper, a program under the direction of the membership department, with Mrs. Elmer Maune, chairman, was presented. The topic was, "Your Neighbors, the Unchurched, the Unwanted." Those taking part in the panel discussion were Miss Anna Mae Huffman, Mrs. Fred Armstrong, Mrs. Roy Lierman, Mrs. Minnie Mize, Mrs. Harold Tomlin and Lewis Satorius.

Many interesting points came from the panel and the audience on how to create more interest among church going people and how, through evangelism, we might acquaint the unchurched to know Christ and get them to join the church. Some of the effective ways are through a more spiritual worship of church services and making a person feel welcome, wanted and needed, and to see that they have something to do once they become a member.

Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Bremer and son, Dickey, gave a family skit connected with the topic the panel discussed.

The April program will be under the direction of the spiritual life department. Mrs. Rhival Rhoads, chairman. The Rev. David Bryan will speak on "Faith Overcoming Fear."

The Churchmen's Brotherhood invited the women of the church to be their guests March 16 at which time Pettis County Agent Merle Vaughan will speak to the group on soil conservation.

The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer, led by the spiritual life chairman, Mrs. Rhival Rhoads.

Solve Nine Burglaries With Arrest

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Indiana police, after six arrests, said today they had solved nine one-man bank holdups in 15 months.

Seven employees from two of the robbed banks identified Bernard E. LaClair, 31, yesterday in a police lineup as the "lunch-hour bandit" who, with a flourish of courtesy, staged the robberies.

Meanwhile, a man who strongly resembles LaClair may win his freedom from the Danbury (Conn.) Federal Correctional Institution, where he was sent after conviction for the job LaClair admitted in a signed statement.

But the convict, Laurence D. Howley, won't be completely free. There is a bench warrant waiting his release to bring charges of armed robbery in Kensington, Conn., against him.

Sheriff Harold Zeis said LaClair has admitted robbing the Kensington branch of the New Britain National Bank at Berlin, Conn., of $25,000 Jan. 6, 1953. Howley was given a 10-year sentence for this robbery.

The others arrested, along with the 31-year-old LaClair, are his sister, Mrs. Helen L. Martin, and her son, John Henry Martin III, 20, both of East Hartford, Conn.; LaClair's brother, Donald, 25, Windsor, Conn.; and Sylvester Morrison, 44, Hartford, Conn.—all four charged as accomplices—and George M. Miller.

Three employees of the First State Bank at Bourbon, Ind., robbed of $9,500 on July 25, 1953, also identified Miller, 28, as driver of the getaway car. Employees of the Hamlet State Bank, robbed last June 6 of $7,500, also identified LaClair.

Other robberies, in addition to the four in Indiana, included Dunkirk, Ohio, $4,603 May 16, 1953; Ada, Ohio, $7,037 Oct. 22, 1952; Forest, Ohio, $8,336 Aug. 22, 1952; and Springfield, Mass., $62,000 Jan. 26, 1954.

The loot from the nine robberies totaled nearly $160,000. Less than $13,000 has been found of the missing money.

Young Says N.Y. Central Coerces Its Employees Against His Control

NEW YORK (AP)—Financier Robert R. Young says the management of the New York Central Railroad is "coercing" its employees to fight his attempt to take over control of the line.

Young said yesterday that an employee had complained to him that department heads were telling each worker that he would be expected to solicit the proxies of six shareholders in his neighborhood.

The work, said Young, is to be done on the employee's own time. NYC resident William White said of Young's charges: "It just sounds to me like a lot of words. Cry-baby words. This is just more evidence that Young can't stand resistance."

Young, former chief executive of the Chesapeake & Ohio, is seeking to wrest control of the Central system from the management headed by White. The issue will be decided by shareholders at a meeting in Albany May 26.

South Koreans Getting First Full Field Army

SEOUL (AP)—The Defense Ministry said today the South Korean 1st Field Army will take over operational control of three South Korean army corps next Monday.

The move will put the three corps, and practically all South Korean combat troops, under the command of Gen. Sun Yip Paik. The U.S. 8th Army will still be at the top of the command ladder but the South Koreans will have, for the first time, a full field army command setup.

The South Koreans will take over the three corps from the U.S. 10th Corps.

Mau Mau High Priest Gives Himself Up

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—A high chief of the Mau Mau terrorists has given himself up to British security forces.

Officials said last night "Gen. Tanganyika," former deputy to the captured "Gen. China," was taken without resistance by Kikuyu guards Saturday after sending word that he wished to surrender.

Gen. China, captured Jan. 15, dispatched messages to Mau Mau jungle hideouts last week telling other leaders to lay down their arms.

Bob Thomas In Hollywood—

Bing Crosby May Retire After 'Five or Six More Pictures'

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—For many months, friends have been saying that Bing Crosby plans to ease into retirement. Today he gives some support to those statements.

"I have about five or six more pictures to make for Paramount," he says, adding with a laugh, "That should be about enough for me."

You can't always cite a trend by a Crosby remark. He tosses 'em off with the greatest of ease and declines to be pinned down on anything. But he left no doubt that he favors a slackening of pace.

"I've always said that my favorite kind of picture would be one that opened with a shot of me sitting in a rocking chair on a front porch," he chuckles. "The rest of the picture would be what I saw."

His current film is his biggest dramatic challenge to date, but he said it is also one of his easiest chores. He is acting in the film version of the Clifford Odets play "The Country Girl." Bing does the role created by Paul Kelly on Broadway and portrayed by Robert Young on the road. The part is that of a faded, alcoholic stage star who has a last chance to regain theatrical fame.

Grace Kelly plays his suffering wife, and William Holden is the stage director who tries to mold him back into shape.

"They have to do most of the work," Bing said. "I'm the one they're always talking about."

There had been reports of protests of the casting of Crosby as a drunk in the film. "There's just one scene in which I'm supposed to get a little tipsy," he assured. "The rest of the time it is merely inferred."

Perhaps it was the prospect of leading a slower life. At any rate, I found Bing more relaxed and happy than I have ever seen him. He went through a scene with Miss Kelly and a boy actor who was portraying his son. The boy gave out with a few extra lines and Bing convulsed the set by cracking: "This kid pads his part worse than Hope."

Afterwards, he sat on a stool and chatted volubly, gossiping about the Academy Awards and other matters. I asked him if there were any pictures he would like to do.

"Not right now," he replied. "Three years ago, I wanted the studio to get 'Guys and Dolls' for me and Hope. Paramount owned part of it, but sold out for $65,000. Now I read the asking price is up to $750,000! (Sam Goldwyn bought it for a million.) I wish we could have done it here."

"I don't know if Hope and I will do a 'Road to the Moon.' We should have done it a couple of years ago. Since then Abbott and Costello have done a space picture, and Martin and Lewis will probably get in the act too. Who knows?"

"I've always wanted to do a picture with Judy Garland. We've done a lot of radio programs and Army shows together, and I think she's the greatest female talent in town. As a matter of fact, I think she's the greatest talent, male or female."

Bing said he still keeps up his recording schedule. On his lunch hour, he slips over to Decca and knocks off a side or two. The disc company is only a half block from Paramount, and it's very likely that it was so situated for Bing's convenience.

His radio show is up in the air right now. "There doesn't seem to be much money left in radio," he says. He has finished his second TV film and he may do more. But, as with everything else these days, he's in no great rush.

He will hit the half-century mark May 2. Part of his slowdown may be due to his physical shape. He admits he has a kidney condition, but he has no plans for an operation, as has been rumored.

Bing said he still keeps up his recording schedule. On his lunch hour, he slips over to Decca and knocks off a side or two. The disc company is only a half block from Paramount, and it's very likely that it was so situated for Bing's convenience.

His radio show is up in the air right now. "There doesn't seem to be much money left in radio," he says. He has finished his second TV film and he may do more. But, as with everything else these days, he's in no great rush.

Baseball Roundup-- New Star Bids For Sox Berth With 4 Bagger

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willard Marshall, called by Chicago White Sox Manager Paul Richards, "the leader type player we need," has a head start in his efforts to nail down a regular job.

The 33-year-old outfielder, acquired from Cincinnati during the winter, drove out a three-run homer yesterday as the Sox opened their exhibition schedule with an 8-3 victory over the Redlegs.

Marshall, who joined the New York Giants in 1942, always was considered a potential major league star, but he never quite reached the heights. Although he batted only .266 in 1953, the White Sox still thought enough of him to let pitcher Saul Rogovin and infielders Connie Ryan and Rocky Krschich go to Cincinnati.

"Marshall is a take-charge guy and we can use all of them we can get," Richards said earlier in spring training. "I expect him to give us added power."

Willard "took charge" in the seventh inning yesterday, blasting a 350-foot drive over the right field wall after a double by Nellie Fox and singles by Johnny Groth and Ferris Fain.

Outfielders also did most of the long-distance hitting in the other grapefruit league games.

At Yuma, Ariz., Dick Kokos walked a two-run homer in the last half of the 10th inning to give the Baltimore Orioles an 8-6 win over the Chicago Cubs. Marlin Stuart, who hurled the game, was credited with the victory.

Rookie Vic Power and the veteran Gus Zernial contributed home runs in a six-run third inning by the Philadelphia Athletics as Eddie Joost's men downed the Washington Senators 7-3. Bill Renna, a former New York Yankee, and Pete Sider also got hits in the uprising.

Freshman infielder George Friesee got three hits as the Pittsburgh Pirates broke loose for five first-inning runs and went on to defeat the Detroit Tigers 7-3. Right-hander Ron Necciai was the winning pitcher.

In a wild affair at Phoenix, Ariz., the Cleveland Indians walloped the Giants 23-10. The Tribe slammed six homers with outfielder Dave Pogue getting two.

Billy Conoso, the $65,000 bonus baby, paid off with a 400-foot triple in the eighth inning to give the Boston Red Sox a 2-1 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Tom Herrin and Tom Brewer, a couple of first-year pitchers, limited the Phillies to six hits.

With Jerry Coleman, Bob Cerv and Andy Carey finding the home run range, the champion New York Yankees trimmed the St. Louis Cardinals 10-7 in a loosely played game at St. Petersburg. The Cards' Stu Miller, plagued by a sore arm in 1953, gave up only one hit in the three frames he worked.

The Brooklyn Dodgers went without a hit until the ninth inning and bowed to the Milwaukee Braves for the second straight day. Ernie Johnson was the victim of Brooklyn safeties after Lew Burdette and Jim Wilson had pitched hitless ball.

Earl Walls, No. 7 heavyweight contender from Toronto, and Harry (Kid) Matthews, ninth-ranking heavy from Seattle, could fatten their records this week. Walls meets Freddie Beshore at Edmont, Monday. Matthews tiffs with Murray Burnett of Chicago at Spokane Tuesday.

Jake LaMotta, the old Bronx Bull now a Miami resident, starts a comeback Thursday in Miami. The former middleweight champion meets Johnny Pretzie of Boston in a light heavyweight 10.

11 Below Par Gives Douglas Houston's $6,000

HOUSTON —Dave Douglas hadn't won a dime this year until he plucked a big one, the Houston Open's $6,000 top prize, and now is winter golf's second leading money winner.

The slender Grossinger, N.Y., pro won the winter tour's richest tournament yesterday by turning in his fourth day of subpar golf. His 72-hole 277 was 11 below par and placed him two strokes in front of Memphis' Cary Middlecoff, the defending champion and pretournament favorite.

Middlecoff's $3,200 runner-up money boosted his earnings for the year to $6,780.56 for first ranking.

Douglas clinched top money in the $30,000 tournament with a final-round, 5-under-par 67 that took most of the record gallery of from 12,000 to 15,000 by surprise. Douglas, 36, had gone practically unnoticed with early rounds of 70 and 71 for the 7,200-yard, par 72 Memorial Park course.

A third round 69 pulled him to 210, just one stroke behind New Orleans' Freddie Haas, the leader after 35 and 54 holes. But most speculation still centered on Haas.

Middlecoff and Shelly Mayfield, a young Texan playing out of Chicopee, Mass., Middlecoff and Mayfield entered the final round with 211s.

Douglas, Middlecoff and Mayfield each had 32s on the final front nine. Haas dropped out of the lead with a 35.

On the back nine, Douglas barely missed an eagle on the 15th hole, settled for a birdie and came home in 35. Middlecoff had a par 36. Mayfield shared third place at 280 with Ed Oliver, Palm Springs, Calif., and Ted Kroll, New Hartford, N.Y., each won $1,700.

NCAA Begins With 5 Loops Still Playing

NEW YORK —With five conference races still to be decided in down-to-the-wire battles, the involved NCAA postseason basketball tournament gets under way tonight with preliminary rounds scheduled for Buffalo, N. Y., and Durham, N. C.

Powerful La Salle of Philadelphia (21-4), Middle Atlantic Conference winner, is favored over Fordham (18-5), and Connecticut (23-2), the New England representative, is a slight choice over Navy (16-7) in the Buffalo double-header.

The winners all will advance to the regional finals, slated to start in Philadelphia Friday. Only one of the vacancies definitely will be filled tonight. That one will be the Pacific Coast berth. The playoff between Southern Division champion Southern California and Northern Division winner Oregon State shows one victory apiece. They play the deciding game tonight.

As for the other four, here is how they stand:

Southwest — Rice and Texas, which finished in a tie, have played one game of their three-game playoff series, with Rice the winner. They play No. 2 tonight.

Southeastern-Kentucky and Louisiana State finished in a tie. They will have a one-game playoff in Nashville tomorrow.

Big Seven-Kansas is in first place with 10-1 and has one game to play against Missouri tomorrow night. Colorado, which is in second place, has finished its season with 10-2. If Missouri (5-6) should surprise one and all by tripping the Jayhawks, Kansas and Colorado would have to toss a coin to find out the NCAA representative.

Leading at one stage by over 88 miles, the shiny red car driven by Piero Taruffi of Italy "cooked out" last night with one hour to go.

The stocky, fiftyish Italian driver pushed his car two miles around the track in the chill darkness in a desperate effort to save first prize.

As he pushed the car along the concrete runways of the abandoned air force field, a little Red Osca sped around and round to make up a nine-lap (46.8 miles) deficit in the final hour.

With 20 minutes to go, Taruffi finally reached the pits and his crew of mechanics started to work feverishly.

The Osca, driven by Sterling Moss, former British champion, and Bill Lloyd of Green Farms, Conn., finally closed the gap with 15 minutes to go and finished first. The winner averaged 73.6 miles per hour.

NAIB Opening Today In K.C. With 32 Teams

KANSAS CITY — College basketball's most grueling test—the National Intercollegiate Tournament—opened its six-day grind in Municipal Auditorium today.

The tournament, sponsored annually by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, has a field of 32 teams representing 30 states. But, as usual, there isn't an outstanding championship favorite.

Most frequently mentioned as the teams most likely to succeed are Springfield (Mo.) State, champion of the past two years; Rio Grande, featuring the famed Bevo Francis; East Texas State, East Carolina of Greenville, N. C., Geneva (Pa.), Lawrence Tech, St. Peter's (N. J.) and Pasadena (Calif.) College.

And perhaps there are any number of "sleepers" among the other 24 entries coming from coast-to-coast. The field includes the nation's finest small college teams: Nebraska Wesleyan of Lincoln was pitted against Whitworth of Spokane, Wash., in the opener. Following at one and one-half hour intervals were St. Peter's and Wayne College of Plainview, Tex., Western Illinois and Morris Harvey, and Tennessee A&I and Regis on the afternoon card.

The night scheduled has East Texas and Portland (Ore.) University, Springfield State and East Tennessee College, Rio Grande and Arizona State, and Arkansas Tech and Mercer.

The first round will be completed Tuesday. Eight games are scheduled Wednesday, four Thursday, two Friday night and two Saturday night.

Sedalia's Land Some Big Ones

Sedalia's at Palm Beach, Fla., have been enjoying the beaches there and several of them indulged in deep sea fishing, landing some of the big ones.

According to the Palm Beach Post, Capt. Frank Lomas had aboard his Seacomber II a Sedalia party and Dr. M. E. Gouge pulled in a 7-foot sailfin, also a dolphin. H. F. Dean landed a kingfish and Mrs. Dean a bonito. The fishing was off the noted Layton's Dock.

The Sedalia's, about a dozen in all, were together one day at the beautiful Juno beach on the ocean. Among them were: Dr. and Mrs. M. E. Gouge, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wright, Admiral and Mrs. Frank Monroe, Dr. and Mrs. Charles D. Osborne and Harry Walch.

K.U. Has Title Chance Going Against Tigers

KANSAS CITY — The ball hawking Kansas Jayhawks can wrap up their third straight Big Seven title and a spot in the NCAA play-offs by beating Missouri, exponent of ball control, in the final league game of the season tomorrow night.

There'll be plenty of pressure on Kansas. The Jayhawks have won 10 of 11 league games. Colorado has finished at 10-2 and would slip into a tie for the championship in event Missouri pulled an upset.

It doesn't seem likely that Missouri, beaten 86-69 by Kansas in their first meeting last January, is capable of the job—even on its home floor at Columbia. But there have been many upsets in this series and Missouri has played well the last couple of weeks.

Kansas has won or tied for the title 15 times since the Big Seven—Big Six until 1948—was organized in 1929. Prior to that Coach Phog Allen's teams won or tied for 13 of 21 titles in the old Missouri Valley conference.

Allen's 1952 team won the NCAA championship. The Jayhawks last year were edged by Indiana, 69-65, in the National Collegiate finals.

Kansas now has a commendable 16-4 season record after losing its first two games of the season—to Tulane and Louisiana State—and faltering in mid season to Colorado and Oklahoma A&M. The Jayhawks avenged their losses to the Oklahomaans and last week walloped Colorado 83-62.

Colorado kept in the race for a piece of the crown—and a possible flip of the coin to see who represents the league in the NCAA—by defeating Kansas State, 79-76 at Boulder last Saturday.

The standings:

CONFERENCE
	Won	Lost	Pct.
(X) Kansas	10	1	.909
Colorado	10	2	.833
(X) Missouri	5	6	.455
Oklahoma A&M	5	6	.455
Kansas State	5	7	.417
Nebraska	5	7	.417
Low State	2	19	.107

Aggies Win Mo. Valley For 15th Time

ST. LOUIS — Now the only question to be settled in Missouri Valley Conference basketball this season is how far can champion Oklahoma A&M advance in the NCAA playoff.

There was a mathematical chance but not much betting the Aggies might not win their second straight Missouri Valley title. But A&M disposed of that possibility Saturday by defeating St. Louis University in the Valley windup, 63-51.

That left A&M 9-1 on top for the 15th time in the conference since 1944.

It also reduced Wichita (8-2) to nothing better than runnerup status while tumbling St. Louis (4-6), a pre-season favorite, to fourth place behind Tulsa (5-5).

Fifth place Houston (3-7) and last place Detroit (1-9) completed their seasons earlier.

Oklahoma A&M's selection to the NCAA playoffs, determined before Saturday's clincher, left Wichita free to enter the NIT, but the Shockers had only a short stay in New York. Bowling Green ended Wichita hopes in the first round Saturday, 88-84.

Secretary Benson Warns Farmers About Storage And Urges Early Planning

Production Could Cause Big Problems

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson today warned of the danger of serious storage problems this year and urged farmers to make plans now to help assure adequate storage facilities.

"Continued big production, encouraged by high price supports, has built up tremendous supplies of major commodities," Secretary Benson pointed out. "Storage facilities had to be stretched to the limit, and supplemented in many cases, in order to handle 1953 crops."

"With normal weather this spring and summer, the storage problem can be even more acute in 1954. The carry-over of old supplies—before this year's harvest—will be at all-time record levels for the two leading grain crops. The wheat carry-over is now expected to be above 800 million bushels, as compared with 562 million bushels last year. The corn carry-over is expected to be around 900 million bushels, as compared with 769 million in 1953."

"The size of this year's crops will of course be a determining factor, but it is obvious that the storage situation can be very serious—especially in areas of heaviest concentration of supplies."

"The effectiveness of price support programs for storage commodities depends very directly on the availability of adequate storage. The regular price support loans cannot be extended to farmers unless their commodities are housed in satisfactory storage—either on the farm or in commercial facilities."

"The Department of Agriculture did everything possible to assist the expansion of both farm and commercial storage facilities in 1953. It will continue this vigorous help this year. The final responsibility, however, rests with farmers themselves. They should anticipate their requirements and make plans immediately to see that adequate storage space is available when they need it. We will help in every practicable way."

The Secretary called attention to the following specific types of assistance which the Federal Government is making available to farmers to help them expand storage facilities on their own farms, in addition to special steps to increase commercial storage:

Farm Storage Facility Loans for financing new storage construction are available to farmers through local banks or direct from the local county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. These loans, which can run up to 80 per cent of the cost of the new storage facilities in most States, can be paid off over a four-year period. The loans, at four per cent interest, are available until June 30, 1954, and are intended to supplement local credit services when for any reason normal lending agency credit is not available. Last year around 30 million bushels of farm storage capacity was added under this program.

Under another program, Guaranteed Occupancy of New Warehouse Storage, the CCC contracts to make payments to warehousemen in the event that occupancy of approved new storage construction falls below specified levels over a period of 5 or 6 years, depending on the plan the warehouseman elects. The program is designed to encourage new construction by responsible commercial firms in areas where additional storage facilities are needed. As of February 13, 1954, applications totaling more than 293 million bushels of new storage capacity had been tentatively approved by the Department. Cancellations and withdrawals by applicants of previously accepted applications totaled approximately 85 million bushels, leaving a net total of acceptances of more than 208 million bushels. The new construction will be principally available for farmers' use, with CCC storage to be used largely as needed to maintain the guaranteed level of occupancy.

The Federal income tax deduction for amortization over a period of 60 months of the depreciable cost of new grain storage facilities applies to commercial and cooperative storage elevators and warehouses as well as to farm storage structures.

Fumigant Drums Available on Bid

The Missouri State ASC Committee has announced the availability of 55-gallon metal fumigant drums to be sold under sealed bids to the highest bidder.

At the present time there are approximately 357 of these drums in storage at the Maryville, Missouri, CCC Bin Site, and approximately 275 at the Montgomery City, Missouri CCC Bin Site. Sealed bids may be submitted on any quantity from 20 to the entire lot of drums at both sites. The bidder should address the bid to: Murray C. Colbert, Chairman, Missouri State ASC Committee, I.O.O.F. Building, Columbia, Missouri. The bidder should indicate in his bid (1) number of drums, (2) storage point, (3) bid price. The envelope in which the bid is submitted should be clearly marked: "Bid on Empty Drums - Not to be Opened Until March 24, 1954." Bids must be received in the State ASC Office on or before the close of business March 23, 1954. The State Committee reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

For Your Garden's Sake Use Super Phosphate in the Chicken House

One of the fertilizer companies has a slogan "for your land's sake, use lime." I would like to suggest the one above, "For your garden's sake use super phosphate in the chicken house."

For the benefit of those who wonder what I am talking about, let me say that many folks use hydrate lime in the poultry laying house to keep the litter dry and to keep down odors. Now here is the problem. Most chicken house droppings eventually end upon the garden and the hydrate lime in it is throwing our calcium Magnesium balance out of line there.

One suggestion is to use super phosphate instead. The phosphate will keep down odors and as it does so will tie up some of the escaping ammonia and hold it until the manure can be hauled to a field.

If phosphate cannot be substituted for the hydrate lime, then the best thing to do with the poultry manure is to haul it to a crop field or pasture rather than on the garden.

If a garden needs lime the best way to supply it is with agricultural lime which is high in magnesium. Some of our local limestone will run 20 to 25% magnesium and the best balance in the soil is a ratio of 1 part magnesium to 10 parts calcium. Some of these gardens are so far out of balance that they will have 40 parts of calcium to 1 magnesium.

A soil test is the only way to find whether your garden has a proper balance of plant foods.

Need to Dry Soil Samples at Home

A few weeks ago I wrote a story about how much better shape soil samples were coming to the soil laboratories than a year or so ago. We appreciate the improvement, but now we need to get a step further.

Samples have come into the office in such numbers recently (February) that we have had trouble finding a place to dry out the wet ones. In fact, some tests have been unsatisfactory even though samples appeared dry and we had to run them over.

We had a soil testing specialist in from the University last week to give us advice on operating our laboratory. He suggested that all samples be kept in drying trays for 10 days to two after they are dry enough to be sifted into those trays.

We plan to follow his suggestions because we want to do everything possible to put out the most accurate soil tests possible. Because of this, folks wanting tests can help themselves by having samples dry by the time they come to the Farm Bureau Office.

Soil samples should be dried carefully. They should not be hurried by placing in an oven or over the furnace as the excess heat may break down the organic matter and give an inaccurate test.

This and That

Only fifteen of the 135 folks who brought in the 309 soil samples last month brought a sample of their garden soil to be tested.

That is a small percentage of the rural-urban gardens in the county and we haven't tested one yet. There is still time to get yours tested.

Many folks have objected to feeding the round bales of hay made by one of our popular lower priced hay balers. Ed Callis Jr., of Hughesville was telling me recently of their experience. He said they feed them in a very wide rack where cattle could reach in from both sides. They rolled the bales back and forth, and had no trouble getting the hay unrolled and had very little waste.

Speaking again of round bales, O. F. Richardson of Smithton is telling me of a type of Prairie hay that he bought this winter for his cattle. It came from Wombling, was in round bales and had some resemblance to both blue grass and red top. He didn't mind the round bales as he has a baler that makes that kind and he said his cattle cleaned every whisp of the hay.

Thanks to Our Hay Dealers
One thing leads to another and I would like to give credit here to local hay dealers who made the "1953 hay lift" possible. Probably everyone of them went into the "red" because of the narrow margins and the unknown quality of hay that unknown northern shippers would load for them.

Certainly we need to thank Governor Donnelly, our Commissioner of Agriculture, Carpenter and our state legislators for making some of our tax money available to pay freight bills. However, it was our feed dealers who took their money to buy the hay and pay freight that have made sacrifices. It wouldn't have been so bad if they could have obtained their freight money back quickly from the state, but some dealers reported waiting weeks and months for thousands of dollars or borrowed money on which they were paying interest.

I don't know how much hay came into Pettis County, but on the last checkup we had issued certificates to 972 folks for 41,000 tons of hay. Most of the hay coming into the county was handled by the M. F. A., Fred Lange and Gib Owens at Sedalia, Flower Bros., Hughesville and L. W. Hoehns at Smithton while other dealers were located at Otterville, Ionia, Windsor, Knob Noster and Sweet Springs.

House Members Poking Fun At Themselves

WASHINGTON (AP)—House members today were able to poke some fun at themselves a week after they were targets of a wild fusillade from the pistols of four Puerto Rican fanatics.

Congressional jesters made no attempt to play down their basic view of the shooting as a tragic affair. But humor is a favorite means of lightening the legislative grind, and with all five injured congressmen apparently recovering, House humor began to reassert itself.

Some gags revolved around the plentiful news accounts of members standing near or giving aid to one or another of the wounded.

Said one: "With that mob around them, how did a bullet ever get through?"

Other jests stemmed from the many reports of people who shared in capturing the attackers. Reps. Wolcott (R-Mich.) and Clarence J. Brown (R-Ohio) offered a make-believe award to any member who could prove he did not take part in the capture.

Rep. Vinson of Georgia, senior Democrat on the Armed Services Committee, wasn't at the scene himself. But he suggested legislation to set up three types of pay for those who were under fire:

1. Combat pay—for those who stood up under fire.

2. Flight pay—for those who fled the chamber.

3. Submarine pay—for those who dived under their seats.

One legislator, who asked to remain anonymous, told a sad tale of whiskey gone down the drain: At the time of the shooting, an elevator operator gave him a bottle. The operator suspected poison—the bottle had a whiskey label on it but had been handed to him by an unidentified woman who whispered, "For the wounded."

The congressman poured out the contents, then, in doubt, sent the dregs out for a chemical check. "It wasn't necessary," he reported today with a sigh, adding that the mystery woman turned out to be the secretary of a Capitol official.

High Fertility Necessary For Garden Yields

High soil fertility is essential in obtaining good yields of top quality vegetables. Not only is a high level of soil fertility necessary, it's also important that the plant food in the soil be well balanced.

The only way of knowing the kind and amount of fertilizer necessary for top vegetable production is by having a soil test made every three to five years. Once a high level of soil fertility is reached through a basic fertilizer application, it can be maintained for a number of years by putting on the same amount of fertilizer each year as is removed by the plants. This is called maintenance applications and is usually done by putting on a starter fertilizer at planting time and using nitrogen side dressing during the growing season.

Remember, too much fertilizer is just as harmful as too little. So follow your soil test recommendations carefully. If your garden hasn't been plowed, apply the needed fertilizer and plow under. If the garden is already plowed, disc the fertilizer in as deeply as possible.

For extremely high fertility gardens, apply as much organic matter as possible and plow or disc deeply.

Adjustments to Meet Drought Conditions

Every Missouri farmer needs to consider adjustments he can make this year to help offset the effects of drought. This is particularly true of livestock farmers faced with feed and water shortages.

Here are a few adjustments many Missouri farmers are including in their 1954 farm plans:

1. They are cleaning out and deepening farm ponds—building new ones in many cases—to provide a greater reserve of livestock water.

2. They are testing soils at an unprecedented rate—they know that heavy soil treatments of the right kind, worked deeply into the soil, will help insure reasonably good yields even in extreme droughts. In case of a good season, the fertility is there for record-breaking yields.

3. They are planning to graze small grains—barley, wheat, rye and spring seeded oats—to relieve the pressure on over-grazed and drought damaged permanent pastures.

4. They are expanding out acreages to provide early hay, silage and grain.

5. They plan to increase acreages of drought resistant summer crops such as corn and sorgho for silage, sudan and lespedeza for pasture, alfalfa for pasture, hay and silage, and soybeans for hay and a cash crop.

6. They expect to retard runoff and conserve moisture with terraces, contour planting, vegetative cover and proper tillage of the soil.

7. They will retain moisture for fall-seeding of alfalfa and improved pastures by weed control, early plowing and summer fallowing.

8. Some plan to use irrigation on a limited scale, keeping in mind that the cost may be prohibitive except where an abundance of water is readily available and acre-value of the irrigated crop is high.

9. They expect to save on food costs through a good garden program this year including heavy soil treatments, the use of high quality seed and succession plantings.

10. Many more are keeping good

Don't Delay Oat Seeding

Here's a word of warning from a University of Missouri field crops specialist.

C. A. Helm says that as important as good seedbed preparation is for oat seeding... it shouldn't be allowed to delay seeding materially. He explains that in both yield and quality, oats are more sensitive to weather conditions than either wheat or winter barley. Hot, dry weather during the last 10 to 14 days before oat maturity will greatly reduce yield and test weight of the grain. Hence early seeding is important.

Helm adds that weather conditions frequently delay early seeding in Missouri. To help overcome this, he suggests advanced mid-winter plowing, rough disking or working the soil with a field cultivator to make early seedbed preparation easier.

Chick Demand Strong

Commercial hatcheries produced more than 140 million chicks during January, the largest output on record for the month, reports the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

January's hatch was 10 percent larger than a year earlier and 60 percent above the 1948-52 average. Most of the chicks will be used for flock replacement since the demand for broiler chicks is down due to lower broiler prices.

49,700 Drop In State For Non-Farm Workers

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—An estimated 1,250,000 Missourians had non-agricultural jobs on Jan. 15, a drop of 49,700 from Dec. 15. Reporting the figures today, Governor P. Weir, head of the state Division of Employment Security, noted that much of the decline represented seasonal post-Christmas layoffs.

The Jan. 15, 1954 total was 1.1 per cent less than the 1,264,000 at work on the same date a year ago.

Has Mechanical Brain to 'Think' Up Logic Answers

SOUTH HADLEY, Mass. — A Mount Holyoke College philosophy professor today displayed his "thinking machine," which he says can solve practically any problem in a book on fundamental symbolic logic.

"It is to logic what an adding machine is to arithmetic," Prof. Roger W. Holmes built the machine for about $120 "plus labor."

He says it can solve practically any problem in a book on fundamental symbolic logic.

The machine, about the size of a typewriter, is a complex system of electrical relays which flashes lights on a control board.

If a proposition is valid a green light will flash. If it is invalid, a red light shows.

The professor says up the ques-

He says the machine can't perform any function which a human operator couldn't do for himself with pencil and paper. But he claims it can tackle complex problems of reasoning with greater speed and accuracy.

He says the device can test the validity of the basic laws of logic. It also can explore the field for new principles, he says, and it can test whatever specific arguments are given it for examination.

J. Roosevelt Is Endorsed For Congress

LOS ANGELES (AP) — James Roosevelt, accused by his estranged wife of being a philanderer, has won the endorsement of the Democratic party as its candidate for Congress in the 26th District.

Prior to the endorsement by the 26th District Democratic Council, made by acclamation on the second ballot, the 46-year-old insurance executive said in a speech that he decided to enter the race to "obliterate" charges against him and "slurs against the ideals of my father."

The eldest son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt made no specific reference to his wife's sensational separate maintenance suit, but he did say last night, "Personal questions are being used not only against me but against the Democratic party."

He added that the "questions" left him two choices, either to retire from public life, which he said would acknowledge "evidence of guilt and lack of courage," or:

"To come before the people and get elected to Congress and make a record which forever would be an answer to any sneers the opposition would make."

In her suit, Mrs. Romelle Roosevelt, 38, named three co-respondents and filed a letter signed by Roosevelt and admitting infidelities with nine other women. He has denied all the charges, saying he was forced to sign the letter in 1945 to prevent his wife from divorcing him and thus adding to the burdens of his father as president.

Eleven candidates originally were in the running for the party's backing. But Roosevelt's only serious competition came from Jerry Pacht, son of a former Superior Court judge. Pacht trailed Roosevelt by only 12 votes on the first ballot and finally lost by only 14 on the second, when Roosevelt got 91—only one more than the 90 required for endorsement.

However, after Roosevelt received 91 votes, Pacht moved that the endorsement be made unanimously. The 197 delegates responded with a roar of applause.

Prior to the balloting of the 11 aspirants, Jerry K. Harter, 35, an attorney, said he came "without the benefit of a cocktail party for the delegates." He was alluding to a party Roosevelt gave Saturday night.

Another aspirant, Ned Redding, 48, newspaper publisher, withdrew his candidacy through a telegram in which he said he felt that Democratic processes were being denied through the preparty convention.

Paul Ziffren, Democratic national committeeman, who served as chairman, read the telegram and denied the council sought to bypass the primary ballot. The California primary election will be June 8.

On Feb. 24 the court ordered Roosevelt to pay $1,025 monthly to support his wife and their three small children pending trial of the separate maintenance suits.

Finally Finds a Use For World's Largest Collection of Its Kind

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It wasn't easy, but Milt Forrest has at last found a use for his collection of 500 cracked table tennis balls, which he calls the world's largest.

Forrest is a graduate student at the University of Southern California and an official of the Southern California Table Tennis Assn.

He began saving busted balls in the hope of finding a way to repair them cheaply. When he had no luck, he went to the chemistry department, which told him there was no way to fix them for less than the price of new ones.

Then he heard the chemists were on the lookout for tennis balls, which are larger.

He hastened to give them his prized store, because they were perfect for what the chemists wanted—balls to make models showing the structure of atoms.

Cop Beaten Trying To Stop a Fight

BALTIMORE (AP)—Patrolman Edward J. Budacz saw a man and a woman fighting in the street yesterday, so he decided to intervene.

But when he did, the policeman testified in Central Police Court, he was attacked by both combatants.

First Willard Clark hit him with his fists, Budacz said. Then Mrs. Ann Sanbury struck him with a belt buckle.

Clark was sentenced to six months and fined $25 on charges of assault and disorderly conduct. Mrs. Sanbury drew a $25 fine and 30 days in jail.

The 12 members have been enlarging their group of bluebird houses there, each house bearing the name of the builder. James Mayo Ellis is the wildlife chairman.

Japan Takes Its Biggest Step On Way Back to Be a Power

TOKYO (AP)—Japan today took its biggest step on the long way back to becoming a military power.

Just 12 years, 3 months and 1 day after Pearl Harbor, the United States agreed to give Japan 100 million dollars worth of guns, tanks, airplanes, ammunition and advice.

"This is just the beginning," a highly placed American source said. "We can support any project Japan wants."

Russia is chagrined. Communist China is disgruntled. South Korea is hopping mad.

But Foreign Minister Katsuo Okazaki and U. S. Ambassador John M. Allison sat down and jotted their names to an instrument making the military alliance legal.

Under terms of the mutual defense agreement, Japan does not have to send troops overseas—but she can if she wants to.

Japan is bound to fight side by side with the United States, leaving no doubt that Japan's definitely in the camp of the Western world.

There will be trouble pushing the ratification through the Diet. Strong Socialist opposition is expected.

But with backing from the Liberals and Progressives, a favorable vote is expected within this month.

The program will go into effect as soon as the Diet ratifies the pact.

Negotiations took a year and Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida took the same amount of time selling the program to his colleagues in the Diet.

Socialist opposition in the Diet, Communist opposition in the labor groups and anti-American sentiment generated by the reaction to the occupation took 12 months to wear down.

But Yoshida thinks he has it licked now and he has cast his political future onto the floor of Parliament.

There seems no doubt any more that if war comes to the Far East again, GI Joe and Heitar-san will be fighting side by side.

Token Opposition Set To Chiang Kai-Shek

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—The minority Democratic Socialist party is planning token opposition to the almost-certain re-election of Chiang Kai-shek as Nationalist China's president.

The extreme Nationalists have gained little legislative support in Puerto Rico. The lower house recently rejected 42-14 a resolution calling for complete independence instead of the present commonwealth status. The Senate voted 27-5 against a similar resolution.

Albizu Campos, in a prison hospital, was said by officials to have recovered from the effects of the tear gas that was used in arresting the fiery 62-year-old radical Saturday.

He still was claiming, however, that the United States is attacking him with cosmic rays. This has been a chronic complaint. Because of such hallucinations, medical authorities declared him mentally ill in 1951. In prison at the time

Puerto Rico Pushes Drive Against Reds

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Pushing its drive against political trouble makers, the Puerto Rican government today sought the "Big Four" of the island's Communist party and two Nationalist leaders still at large.

Sweeping police raids over the weekend netted 40 Nationalist party leaders and six Communists. All were jailed as possible subversives. The roundup was launched after last Monday's attack by Nationalists in the U.S. House of Representatives.

The Reds were captured without violence in a second round of arrests yesterday. This was in contrast to the gunfire and tear gas attack when Nationalist chief Pedro Albizu Campos and five of his aides were routed out of his apartment Saturday.

The four Communists being sought are Juan Santos Rivera, the party president, who reportedly had Moscow training; Juan Saez Corales, a local labor union organizer; Cesar Anden Iglesias, former party president; and Pablo Garcia Rodriguez, a Harvard-graduated lawyer.

In custody as Reds are Consuelo Burgos de Saez, wife of Saez Corales; Jane Sneed Andreu, 43, of Berkeley, Calif.; Andreu's wife, Mariano Arroyo Zeppendelft, Ramon Mirabal, Cristiano Perez and Felix Ojeda.

Atty. Gen. Jose Trias said both the alleged Communists and Nationalists, jailed on $25,000 bail each, are being charged with violating a local anti-subversive law.

Authorities believe the Puerto Rican Communist party has less than 100 members but fear that it is tied in with the Nationalist faction, which has several hundred followers. Both parties demand complete independence for Puerto Rico, and reportedly the Reds furnished some of the arms for the 1950 Nationalist revolt in which 50 persons were killed.

Communist leaders have denied arms aid to the rebels. They also issued a newspaper statement last week disclaiming any connection with the Washington shooting.

The extreme Nationalists have gained little legislative support in Puerto Rico. The lower house recently rejected 42-14 a resolution calling for complete independence instead of the present commonwealth status. The Senate voted 27-5 against a similar resolution.

Will Hays, 74, Ex-Movie Censor, Dies at His Home

SULLIVAN, Ind. (AP)—Will H. Hays, 74, who led a predepression cleanup of movie morals after uniting the Republican party behind President Harding, will be buried in his beloved home town Wednesday.

The man who served 24 years as so-called czar of the motion picture industry died in the quiet of his home here yesterday.

Once a Republican national chairman before he was 40, he kept an interest in politics till death, though a heart ailment had made him an invalid since October.

His wife Jessie and his only son, by a former marriage, Will H. Hays Jr. of Crawfordsville, Ind., were at his deathbed.

Through his years as a public figure in politics and the movie industry, he kept his home and law office in Sullivan and voted here.

He had been in good health until a pneumonia attack a year ago, then returned from his New York home last fall because of his heart ailment.

His genius in reorganizing the Republican party in Indiana sent him up to the national chairman's job to reunite the party, still bearing the wounds of the Bull Moose split.

His success brought a landslide victory for Harding in 1920, and Harding named him postmaster general.

Hays left the Cabinet job in 1922 to clean up the Hollywood film industry, then under a cloud of movie colony scandals. He served 24 years as the $150,000-a-year president of the Motion Picture Producers & Distributors of America.

Though he retired from the Hollywood job to his law practice in 1945, the "Hays office" code of good taste in movies remained entrenched until recently, when signs of rebellion began to appear.

Police Are Checking Second Mysterious Blast During a Row

JOPLIN (AP)—Police here are checking into a mysterious explosion, the second to occur during a union row.

The blast, in the yard of Amos Reniker, broke a window but otherwise caused no damage Saturday.

Reniker is one of 10 members of Teamster Local No. 823 who filed an injunction petition Saturday charging union officers and their employed "hooligans" had placed them in "constant fear for their lives and property and safety of their families."

A similar explosion occurred Feb. 19 near the home of H. L. Alexander, also one of the 10 who filed the petition.

The plaintiffs have asked that the local's president, Floyd C. Webb and five other officers be enjoined from exercising control over the local and that the union be placed in the hands of a receiver.

West Va. Robber Added to 10-Most Wanted List by FBI

WASHINGTON (AP)—Clarence Dye, 43-year-old robber from West Virginia, today was added to the FBI's list of "10 most wanted fugitives."

Dye is sought by federal authorities for allegedly crossing state lines to avoid prosecution for two armed robberies in Akron, Ohio, in July 1946, one of which ended with the death of an accomplice.

According to FBI files, Dye has twice served time in the West Virginia State Penitentiary for robbery and burglary and once escaped from that institution.

The FBI said that in the 1945 foray at Akron, Dye and a companion, Oris Gaines, successfully held up a restaurant late at night and then attempted another holdup a short distance away.

However, the FBI said the robbers found the proprietor, in the act of locking up, with a pistol in his hand. An exchange of fire resulted in the wounding of the restaurant owner and Gaines.

The latter was found dead a few hours later in the getaway car. Dye is of medium build and has blue eyes, brown hair and a fair complexion. His face is scarred in several places, but the FBI described him as a neat dresser, never wearing work clothes on the streets.

Preliminary Steps To Batchelor Trial

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Col. Cyril D. Hill, judge advocate at Ft. Bliss, Tex., made a preliminary visit here yesterday in his probe to decide whether Army Cpl. Claude Batchelor should be court-martialed.

Batchelor, 23, of Kermit, Tex., is the former prisoner of war who first refused to leave his Communist captors in North Korea, then changed his mind and returned to the U.S. side last New Year's Eve.

The 4th Army Saturday named Hill to conduct the investigation to determine whether Batchelor must face a court-martial on charges of misconduct and aiding the enemy.

Batchelor, in custody of the 4th Army at Ft. Sam Houston, is undergoing a medical checkup at Brooke Army Hospital.
